Short Communication

Psychocultural Influence of Toraja Culture on Character Education for Generation Children

Nelsi Parai*

Toraja State Christian Religious Institute, Indonesia.

*Corresponding Author
Nelsi Parai, Toraja State, Christian Religious Institute, Indonesia.

Abstract
Humans as social beings cannot be separated from the communication process that will help in achieving their desires. With the advancement of social media, humans can improve intercultural communication without any distance limitations. The occurrence of cultural psychocultural is strongly influenced by a person or group of people who want to introduce the noble values that are embraced in the local culture. But nowadays, intercultural communication for Generation Z has begun to erode due to the emergence of a culture of modernization and globalization that provides various facilities for each generation which tends to result in conflict. This paper aims to understand the psychocultural influence of culture that will affect the character formation of today's generation who tend to avoid local communication which is full of rules and values of life.

1. Introduction
Indonesia is one of the largest multicultural countries because it consists of various ethnicities, tribes, religions, cultures and even in the process of communication there are always inevitable differences. Generational differences are often an issue discussed in society because they have unique characteristics that influence communication in various contexts. For Toraja people, especially for Generation Z, everyone is required to be able to interact and build communication with other people. Intercultural communication can occur between people of different cultures, ethnicities, experiences, knowledge and socio-economic differences. Culture and ethnicity in a community will also influence a person's behavior in implementing expectations and maintaining appropriate norms, behaviors and thoughts. Psychocultural can be formulated as interaction and integration between one culture and another which has its own local culture. Each individual will always show a cultural identity that has been passed down from generation to generation, starting from the time of their ancestors. However, in the digital era, especially for the Z generation, a phenomenon occurs in society, namely the young generation is very affected and even depends on technological sophistication so that they are addicted to bad content which causes the Z generation group to care less about socio-cultural life and do not care about local cultural values. adopted in a social order.

2. Purpose and Benefits a. Objective
The purpose of writing this is to show that Local cultural psychocultural greatly influences the formation character children especially for generation Z because they see such developments and changes _ inclined fast _ shifting the values of socio-cultural life in society . Cultural psychocultural includes cultural values and local wisdom that must be preserved from generation to generation so as to build knowledge for the multicultural generation Z community.

2.1 Benefit
With it psychocultural culture will guide each generation to build harmonious relationships with previous and living generations preserving local cultural values prevailing in society.

3. Discussion
3.1 Psychocultural Culture
Psychocultural culture is a communication process that is valued differently by individuals. Naturally every human being requires communication to build relationships with others. psychocultural is an approach used to research , understand and build knowledge about a multicultural society. In the process of psychocultural culture everyone will try realize characteristic that includes life experience , heritage the same myths hereditary and cultural values as well-preserved local wisdom . Psychocultural culture will affect the arrangement personality and attitude . At present cultural psychocultural is very important for generation Z because see developments and changes that occur in Generation Z are greatly influenced by stereotypes antisocial , all instant and difficult to communicate with previous generations . Generational differences likely raises problems in culture because each generation will be influenced by values that are considered ideal and different from one another . Psychocultural culture includes values and norms that will also influence Generation Z in behaving .

3.2 Character Education
Speak about education then it cannot be separated from formation character child . Traditionally _ education character children start from the family because the family is a place the most organic , harmonious and calm education in a community group, even for Israeli society ancient practice education entrusted to parents and community. Ancient Educational patterns and practices can be found in several text Bible (Deut. 6:6-9;32:7; Prov . 3:1-3;23:13-14; Ex . 12:26-27;13:8; Ps . 78:3-7). Character education not only obtained through approach formal school but can also be obtained through ulelean which contains moral messages told by parents _ _ to his son . Human behavior can be formed because it is influenced by the process of imitating others through observation . Exemplary is one factor supporter's growth personality and individual character formed through catalysis interest and enthusiasm to achieve something [1].

4. Generation Z
Generation Z is a generation whose life has been heavily influenced by the culture of modernization and globalization give variety facilities for every human being and influence social behavior in society . Many things positives obtained from the digital world such as Education , skills , economic improvement and irrigation spiritual to give a lot profit for many people. Globalization is an opportunity and a challenge because it can become an arena meeting at once competition between nations and cultures , both economically and politically as well as Education for formation character can even convey messages _ _ peace to others to acquire happiness. But the truth adult This is the dialogue and characters of generation Z starting eroded consequence influence modernization and increasing globalization _ strong and even give birth to an instant culture in searching street shortcut . Looking for pleasure and avoidance suffering is one of nature people who live in a time of globalization . implementation true education will produce _ increasing development - know God and do no harm a person's maturity and maturity answer social [1-6].

At present mostly, school has filled with humans intelligent cross-generations need to be interpreted repeated because it has taken the culture of modernization and globalization [3] . Therefore, teachers are constantly required to change and learn to transform from a bureaucratic mentality towards a corporate mentality so as to be able to answer the continuing needs of the Z era generation growing.

5. Conclusion
As a living social being side by side must have mutual awareness _ value local cultural diversity . presence Psychocultural culture is an approach used to understand and build knowledge about ethnic, ethnic, religious, cultural and educational differences that must be preserved from generation to generation so as to build knowledge for the multicultural generation Z community. Each generation is unique each - each of which will influence its social culture because of that important for implementing education character .

Suggestion
Applying cultural psychoculture in dealing with Generation Z will invite across generations to continue to build good relations with fellow citizens. nature of human life is very necessary aware of cultural values that will lead to understanding cultural differences.

References
1. Asketism Discipline and Harmony Contribution to Self-Discipline Development of Hristian Education. journal Postgraduate Pak 2016_Discipline Ascetism and Harmony (2021).
2. Heuristics in Character Education Traditional Toraja People. BIA: Journal Contextual Christian Theology and Education 3, no. 2: 306–327.
3. Stefanus, Kalis. et al . Digital Literacy in a Christian Perspective . Edited by Kalis . et al Stefanus, 2019.
4. Sanderan, Rannu. 3 Journals PAK_ganjil 2016_2017_ EXEMPLARY," 2021.
5. Dilemma Christian Leadership, God or boss ? Fundamental Elements for Christian Leaders Embody His Faith in The Profession and Service to The Sake." SOPHIA: Journal Christian Theology and Education 2, no. 2 (2021): 1–15.
6. Intuition: Depth Hans-George Gadamer's Thoughts About Intuition as Supralogic. Journal Scientific Religiosity Entity Humanity (JIREH) 2, no. 2 (2020): 114–125.